Hi to Everyone,

I finished the second book in a series on the photography safaris that I do. "Encounters | Bobcats the bobcat safaris" is now on my website for sale. Initially I'm offering this as a PDF book, suitable for any size computer screen or iPad. The PDF book is $17 and can be bought through Paypal, or other payment options like credit cards, Venmo, etc. It is 135 pages with 116 full color images, as well as maps. (LINK) They send me a receipt with your email and I will send you a download link. Because I created this with printing in mind, everything is 300 dpi so it is a pretty large PDF at 58 mb. The starting size is 8.5 x 11, then the pdf resizes for the viewing platform. I hope you enjoy it. You can click on the image below to go directly to Paypal to buy a copy.

My next book will probably be the largest, and take the longest - covering the Yellowstone Spring Wildlife Safaris. Just going through the images is daunting, much less choosing the ones to use and writing the captions. With all the baby animals included, the number of images to select from goes over 70,000 images. The book will have a number of maps to highlight locations for different animals.

I just completed the Yellowstone Fall Wildlife Safari and the San Juan Mountains (CO) Safari and got home last weekend. Traveling and shooting for two solid weeks isn't as much fun as it sounds, especially as the number of miles I drove edged up to 5028. The safaris always have unique encounters, probably the best (for me) was the massive bull moose encounter that we got to shoot for about 30 minutes. This guy was by far the largest bull I've ever photographed in 40 years of shooting in the Rocky Mountains. Huge body, huge palms, 21 points - just a beast.

The elk rut was going strong in Yellowstone, and we photographed a number of large harem bulls. I hope you enjoy the images in the Gallery below. We hit the San Juan Mountains in peak color - just amazing landscapes in every direction. It was a bit warmer than normal, but that didn't seem to affect the colors at all. During the entire two weeks we got sprinkled on a couple of times, but no rain or snow that we sometimes get.

Finally, I have my southern Utah safari coming up on November 7-10 (LINK). I still have an opening for this safari traveling with me. Email or call me for more information. Also, my Bosque del Apache NWR Bird Safari in New Mexico, usually 3 days - has been changed to 4 days (LINK). If you can learn to be a good bird photographer you have the skills to master most all wildlife photography, and this safari is the ultimate in bird photography.

Last Call Notes:

There are two Yellowstone Winter Wildlife Safaris - one February 4-11 (LINK) and March 10-14 (LINK). Both of these safaris are followed by a free Utah Raptors Safari the following day (LINK) for those that do either of the Yellowstone Winter Safaris. There are just a few openings right now.

Also, the San Juan Island Fox Safari (LINK) is almost full, so if you are interested now is the time to plan for it. While we photograph lots of black and red adult foxes, the real magic is photographing the kits at a distance that makes them look good with any lens. Every year this safari impresses with dozens of encounters that are unique with rambunctious kits and active adults.

We photographed a nice badger on the bobcat safari last Wednesday. It got up to 90 degrees which is too hot for active bobcats but the days are cooling down now and normal late fall temperatures are finally here.

This is the earliest in my bobcat season I have ever seen a badger. Normally, I start seeing badgers in late November running through early February. Nice claws!

Please forward this e-mail to your photographer friends, maybe we can make a connection that otherwise would never happen. The world of photography is vast and only getting bigger. Also, I can sometimes change safari dates to accommodate folks, so if you would like to do a custom date, or see if I can switch a date, just let me know.
